

Midlands seminar on export industry tomorrow

Tuesday, 13th September, 2016

The Irish Exporters Association, in association with Ulster Bank, will hold a seminar on The Importance of the Midlands to the Irish Export Industry in Sheraton Athlone Hotel tomorrow, Wednesday, September 14.

This is the third seminar in a series of six regional business seminars on this topic. The event will attract key exporters and service providers from the Midlands and include keynote addresses from entrepreneurs and industry experts. An expert advisory panel discussion will inform attendees on challenges and opportunities relevant the region. The event will take place between 7.30am and 10am and industry speakers include Sean Feeney, Director of Supply Chain and Operational Excellence, Alkermes; Kenny O'Brien, General Manager, Athlone Extrusion; Seamus Reilly, Co-founder and Operations Director, Critical Healthcare and Ray Byrne, Managing Director, Wineport Lodge. The expert advisory panellist will be Chief Economist Republic of Ireland Ulster Bank, Simon Barry.