IEA launches Supply Chain Ireland

 The Irish Exporters Association is partnering with Iarnród Éireann to host a series of events around the country to help SMEs export.

Supply Chain Ireland will host information seminars, events and roundtable meetings. It will act as a network, allowing exporters to interact and exchange information on supply chain and logistics practices.

IEA chief executive Simon McKeever said the Supply Chain Ireland initiative would aim to help members increase exports by offering advice, support and ongoing interaction with suppliers of logistics services.

“Supply Chain Ireland is a very exciting initiative aimed at providing a platform for businesses to learn from one another and from leading experts in the field,” he said.

“The IEA felt a responsibility to drive collaboration across the transport and logistics sectors, corporate and government in order to support and develop the industry.”
