
Irish Exporters Feeling The Impact Of Potential Brexit.

21 MARCH, 2016

Irish exporters are already feeling the impact of a potential Brexit.

A survey conducted by the Irish Exporters Association shows that 95 percent of its members think the UK should remain a member of the EU - almost 90 percent do business with the UK.

The figures also show that nearly half of those surveyed are of the opinion that the UK WILL vote to stay in the EU in the upcoming referendum.

Chief Executive of the Irish Exporters Association, Simon McKeever, says that despite this view, many of his members are very concerned;
